Harper Grey lawyers volunteer their time and expertise for many causes and organizations. One of our longest community relationships has been with the Law Students Legal Advice Program (LSLAP), a non-profit, student-run organization providing legal advice to low-income individuals.

Our associates supervise the Britannia Pro Bono Clinic run by LSLAP, attending the evening clinic to provide support to law students and clients. We have also recently donated funds to support LSLAP's operational infrastructure.

Volunteering at the clinic gives us the opportunity to help the community, and to help future lawyers hone their skills. We believe in LSLAP and will continue our long-standing support of access to justice and law student initiatives.
