CHRIS RUSNAK LEADS SESSION ON COUNSEL'S ROLE IN DOCUMENT DISCOVERY
AT LAW SOCIETY'S INNS OF COURT PROGRAM

Harper Grey partner Chris Rusnak leads the session on Counsel's Role in Document Discovery at the Law Society's Inns of Court Program.

The Inns of Court is a program of informal discussion on topics of great interest to junior barristers. The British Columbia version of the Inns follows the English tradition of dining with judges and senior practitioners. Every two weeks, a session is held for a group of junior barristers. A 90-minute discussion on a particular topic is led by several distinguished members of the bench and bar. Following the discussion, participants dine informally with the group leaders. Sessions are held at the Law Courts Inn at 800 Smithe Street in Vancouver. The program is generously sponsored by the Vancouver Bar Association.
