WHAT WE ARE LOOKING FOR

An opportunity currently exists with Harper Grey's Commercial Litigation group for a junior lawyer to work on a long-term, contract basis with insurance defence cases involving fraud, as well as coverage and bad faith claims. The candidate must have a strong analytical skill set to assess complex facts and evidence, assess claims and conduct litigation. The ability to go to court would be considered an asset but not a necessity.

This is an ideal opportunity for a candidate who wants to have a flexible schedule, work fairly autonomously and the ability to work remotely. We anticipate that the hours would range from approximately 80 – 120 per month, with opportunity for more.

APPLY

This is an excellent opportunity to join a dynamic firm that values innovation, initiative and resourcefulness. Are you a motivated and creative team player? Do you think the fast-paced hands-on role we have described would be a perfect fit for your skillset?

If so, we cannot wait to meet you and invite you to submit your resume by email to Kerri Garner.
